Sara Louise Imershein is a native of New York. She graduated from University of Pennsylvania magna cum laude, and received her medical degree from Emory University School of Medicine. Dr Imershein completed her residency at NYU-Bellevue Medical Center and is board-certified in Obstetrics and Gynecology. Dr. Imershein is also a NAMS Certified Menopause Clinician, and a NOAM Certified Reform Mohelet.

Dr Imershein is Associate Clinical Professor Of OB-GYN at the George Washington University School of Medicine.

In 2012, she completed her Masters of Public Health at the GWU School of Public Health with a concentration in Health Policy and a focus on Reproductive Justice.

and now serves as Professorial Lecturer in the Department of Prevention & Community Health
The George Washington University
Milken Institute School of Public Health

As a Fellow of Physicians For Reproductive Health's Leadership Training Academy, and with her Health Policy education, Dr Imershein has actively expanded her advocacy activities for Reproductive Rights and Justice.

Here is a sample of recent work on behalf of American Women:

- Testified at the FDA in favor of the alternative emergency contraceptive, Ullipristal Acetate.
- Testified at the Institute of Medicine (IOM) in support of including all contraceptive services as part of the basic, preventative healthcare package of the Affordable Care Act.
- Visited Capitol Hill numerous times meeting with Legislators and staff, advocating for access to Family Planning services for all women.
- Supported legislation for women by standing with Senators, and addressing a Press conference, in the Capitol's LBJ Room.
- Addressed Arlington Virginia Courthouse rally decrying TRAP Laws (Targeted Regulations of Abortion Providers)
