Women's Obstetrics & Gynecology

Lily Bayat, MD, MPH

Lily Bayat, MD, MPH joined the Women's Obstetrics and Gynecology team in 2018. Dr. Bayat has a wealth of experience to share with the practice. She has participated in numerous community service and outreach initiatives, including working at Street Safe, a contraception outreach clinic, serving as co-chair of Medical Students for Choice at Tufts University, and volunteering at Kal Ali Health Center at a refugee camp in Northern Uganda. Dr. Bayat has also translated the Women on Waves' website into Farsi so that it would be accessible for women in Iran. In conjunction with her obstetrics and gynecology training, Dr. Bayat has a special interest in the field of neuroscience. She was a Neuroscience teaching assistant at Brown University, as well as a Research Assistant for a Mood Disorders Research program at the Laboratory for Clinical Neuroscience at Brown University.

Dr. Bayat attended the Tufts University School of medicine where she received her doctorate, Master of Public Health, and Bachelor of Science in Neuroscience. She completed her obstetrics and gynecology residency at Bridgeport Hospital/Yale New Haven Health and a fellowship in Family Planning at the University of Mexico where she facilitated and taught family planning lectures for Ob/Gyn residents. Dr. Bayat is a recipient of many awards, including the John C.Q Whetham MFM and Excellence in Fetal Ultrasound Award, Family Planning and Reproductive Health Advocacy Award. She is fluent in Farsi.
