Patty Cason, RN, MS, FNP-BC

Assistant Clinical Professor and guest lecturer at the University of California, Los Angeles, CA

Patty Cason is an Assistant Clinical Professor and guest lecturer at the University of California, Los Angeles, in the Family Nurse Practitioner Program and a nurse practitioner at Planned Parenthood Los Angeles. As a consultant and speaker to numerous government and training agencies, including the California Family Health Center and the Bixby Center for Global Reproductive Health, Ms. Cason has more than 30 years of experience in a wide variety of clinical settings.

Ms. Cason received her BA from The University of California, Santa Cruz and both her RN and MS in Nursing (Family Nurse Practitioner) from Pace University in Pleasantville, New York. She is DEA licensed, including schedule II controlled substances, and trained in colposcopy, pelvic ultrasound, and the use of biofeedback techniques to treat urinary incontinence. Ms. Cason has significant experience treating patients with developmental and learning disabilities and autism spectrum disorders, and is well-versed in the use of electronic medical records systems.

Ms. Cason is an active member of many professional organizations that pertain to women's health, including the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology and the American Association of Nurse Practitioners. She has lectured and conducted training nationally on a diverse range of women's health topics and participated in clinical trials for use of the cervical cap. Ms. Cason is in the process of writing a comprehensive intrauterine contraception (IUC) training course for delivery via an electronic platform and on-line use nationwide. Ms. Cason has been published in peer-reviewed journals and recently completed a manual for incorporating sexual and reproductive services into primary care settings.
