New Medical School in South Texas Seeks Family Planning Physician - Ob

UTHealth Rio Grande Valley
Edinburg, TX

Academic/Faculty/Research opening in Edinburg, Texas.

The University of Texas Rio Grande Valley School of Medicine, established in 2015 and located in the heart of the Rio Grande Valley of Texas, a semi-tropical area known for rich culture, wildlife and economical living conditions, is expanding rapidly. The UTRGV SOM prioritizes social responsibility, respect, dignity, advocacy and community service - with a mission to improve health, and life, at the individual and community levels.

The Department of OB/GYN at the University of Texas Rio Grande Valley, School of Medicine is seeking a full-time academic General OB/GYN with a focus in Family Planning to join an exciting new program in the Rio Grande Valley in South Texas. Rank will be Assistant/Associate/Full Professor depending on experience and qualifications. The position is based at the Doctors Hospital at Renaissance in Edinburg, which is the primary teaching site for the UTRGV OB/GYN residency program. The first class of medical students at the UTRGV School of Medicine matriculated in July 2016. The first class of OB/GYN residents started in July 2015.

The selected candidate will provide general OB/GYN services including coverage of ambulatory clinics, labor and delivery, and operative gynecology with primary responsibility for the teaching service. Opportunities also exist for clinical service provision in a high-school based adolescent clinic, mobile healthcare unit, community-based clinics, and a gender care clinic. They will also lead the development of comprehensive family planning services with the goal of providing state of the art clinical care and an outstanding educational program for our myriad of learners. There will be ample opportunity for involvement in scholarly activities including research, designing and implementing quality improvement initiatives, curriculum design for medical student and resident education in Family Planning, and development and implementation of innovative programs to improve family planning services in the area.

hospital staff appointments. Demonstration of strong commitment to the education of residents and medical students is essential. Academic rank will be awarded commensurate with academic credentials.
