In person, best care ever. Otherwise, on the phone is HORRIBLE. I am recently on hold now for 25 minutes and they close now at 6... Im having a lot of pain even after some medication and called to ask for advice. Being on hold for 25 minutes its now 6 and im sure theyve left the office with me on hold. I can say in person at the office they care a lot and I love this location but making calls to them is literally THE WORST. youre better off showing up in person.

I made an appointment, waited a month, and then they called me a few days before telling me that the nurse practitioner wasn't going to be there and I'd have to wait another 2 weeks to be scheduled in again. I decided to just go to the shorter consultation they offered to find out about pricing and insurance ahead of time. There's two different addresses online and after an hour of driving around, walking from building to building, calling and being left on hold, I finally get a hold of someone and told them I had an appointment who said "oh you went to the wrong address? Well Sorry we have no open appointments for two weeks." Not even sure what to rate this because I wasn't even seen AT ALL the only thing I can rate is not the service but the lack of it. I wasted my time and I'm beyond frustrated because I really tried to support planned Parenthood but I will unfortunately be making an appointment elsewhere because this was a joke.

This is the worst place ever. Extremely unprofessional. Went to pick up birth control and the receptionists were talking about what it would be like if they had balls. And how would they feel and pee and how disgusting they are and gross and hairy outloud for everyone to hear and there were two guys in the waiting room. Have a little decency and respect. After waiting basically two hours to be seen. The technician asked me if i had birth control three different times after saying yes i have some pills at home she then went on to suggest that "termination" is not a form of birth control. Oh okay thanks didn't know that. Planned parenthood overall is extremely unorganized. Not only do the people at the call center not know at all what they are doing, the people at the location even worse. Anytime i called the operator i got some person who didn't care to look twice at my file or take the initiative to understand what i was asking. When i asked to release my medical records to my primary doctor the first person i spoke to said i had to sign a consent. I asked her to email it she said she would that day. A week went by and no email. I called again. The next girl said she would leave a note for the office to call to fax it to me so i could sign it and send it back. (Even tho i had already signed the release of my documents with my doctor, they apparently needed to have it too.) anyways she never sent the fax. Then i called again and another girl told me i have to go in person to sign them in person. I was planning on passing by in two days. And the morning when i was going to pass by my doctor calls me and says they received my documents and info from PP.... NO ONE KNOWS WHAT they're DOING at all!!!!!!!!!!!!

This place is not well administered. I arrived for my 5:30 pm appointment at 5:30 and was seen at 7:15 pm to be told that they did not have any rooms available. Both receptionist did not know what they were doing. They told me I needed a Dr.'s referral for a regular yearly gyno. visit because my insurance required it. I knew this was not true because I had verified with my insurance that I did not need one. It was several things that showed that this place and it's staff are very inefficient. I decided to go elsewhere. It was a waste of time and they did not apologize at all.

First to Review

First let me start off by saying that I would have stopped by their office but I moved to NY a few months back. I have been calling for over 2 months trying to get a hold of my medical records. I either get their answering service or an incompetent receptionist who is unable to take a message. The first time they returned my call, they gave me their "first time" new client run through O.o Not the information I requested. Their second message went something like this "This is planned parenthood returning your phone call" Just a little tip planned parenthood, try leaving a message like this..."Hello this is (insert your name here) calling from planned parenthood. You can reach me at (insert phone number here) between the hours of (hours you can be reached). I've given up and decided to just go to a doctor here in New York. Maybe they will have better luck getting a hold of my records.
