Now, more than ever, vaccinate your children. Don't forget rubella, hep B and C, rubeola, meningitis, HPV, etc....

anti-vaxers, please reconsider your choices as it will be your children who will suffer the consequences most, some of which can be fatal. Many of these diseases have recently been reintroduced into our communities that were once eradicated and this puts us ALL at a public health risk. There is no room to blame your government if it provides this protection, you refuse, and then fall victim to the results of uncontrolled, lax, and improper communicable disease vetting. Like it or not, this is one truth to the matter.

A raging measles outbreak in Europe may be a warning sign of what could occur in the U.S. if something doesn't change soon, experts say.

So far this year, there have been 41,000 cases in Europe and 40 deaths, according to the World Health Organization. The European experience may offer a window on how quickly things can go awry when parents choose not to vaccinate their children, doctors caution.
