If you had an upbringing outside of Miami Gardens/ Carol City, Liberty City/Brownville; this physician's bad mannered, egotistic and haughty may not be suitable for your personality!

I can certainly assure you that choosing Dr. Magloire as your OBGYN will be a disappointment; however, if well mannered and politeness are expected as good customer care in your perception please feel free to reevaluate your possible options!

I had a consistently excellent experience with this practice, the staff are genuinely concerned, know you by name, and make you feel well cared for. Midwife Daymaris is so good at explaining things is super approachable and patient so I never left with unanswered questions, her and OB Dr Magloire have the perfect balance b/w holistic and medical. Dr Magloire is equally approachable, down to earth, and her demeanor is one that bring peace and calm into a room, even the delivery room! They both supported me 100% in my desire to have no meds, no epidural, which I did accomplish w.much less pain than w.epi n pitocin (they both delivered no epi btw). Dr Magloire was an excellent coach at the time of delivery, she does not perform routine episiotomies, she did an excellent job stitching up the small tear I did have (btw Dr forewarned me that the skin will often tear in the same place as before so no surprises there, and it was just skin as she surmised), 4mths postpartum and I recovered wonderfully. This is in comparison to my first OB who did no coaching at all, brought angst whenever she would pop in at random intervals, and did an episiotomy followed by a deep tear, she then rushed through the stitches, literally rushed, and it took me 2.5yrs to recover. Anyways highly recommend !!! (Written by wife obviously) Horrible! I told her that my husband, and 9 year old autistic son had taken the day off in order to hear the baby's heartbeat. She told me that my baby was dead while they were in the examination room anxiously awaiting a heartbeat. She could've asked them to step out of the room. It would've been the most decent thing to do. Instead, her cold, heartless bedside manner caused me to sob in front of them. I had to ask my husband to take my son outside, because he began to sob too. I would recommend her as a cold mechanic, but not as a doctor.

I have since found a wonderful doctor (Remberto Santos), and now have a beautiful daughter.
