a residency in Obstetrics and Gynecology at St. Francis Hospital in Hartford Connecticut.

Her interest in working with women of all ages with varying healthcare concerns led Dr. Lefkowitz to the field of gynecology. Dr. Lefkowitz believes that communication is essential to building a strong and trusting doctor/patient relationship. She enjoys the process of helping women achieve their own healthcare goals.

Dr. Lefkowitz was recently certified as a Mohelet by the Berit Milah Board of Reform Judaism of the Hebrew Union College to perform ritual male circumcision. She is one of only two women in Georgia certified by the Union of Reform Judaism to perform Berit Milah.

Outside of her professional work, Dr. Lefkowitz enjoys exercising outdoors when possible and has recently begun rowing again, having been a competitive rower in college. She enjoys swimming and skiing and travelling, as well time with family and friends, and is a self-professed "foodie". She is an active member of Temple Sinai in Sandy Springs where she lives with her husband and two teenage daughters.
