
our story issues & impact publications global projects

book excerpts & health info

HOME > CONTRIBUTORS > ROBIN WALLACE, MD, MAS

A A A

Publications

Our Bodies, Ourselves
2011

Table of Contents &
Contributors

Introduction

Writing the Relationships Chapter:
How a Conversation
Became the Text

2011 Contributor Bios

Our Bodies, Ourselves:
Pregnancy and Birth

Introduction

Contributors

Our Bodies, Ourselves:
Menopause

Introduction

Contributors

Other Books by the BWHBC & OBOS
Founders

Recursos en Español

De Camino a la
Maternidad

Nuestros Cuerpos,
Nuestras Vidas

Promotoras de Salud

Robin Wallace, MD, MAS

Robin Wallace is a family physician and family planning specialist in North Texas.

She sees herself first and foremost as a patient advocate for the women and underserved and underinsured families for whom she cares.

As one of three sisters, aunt of four nieces and one nephew, and now a new mother to a precious little boy, family and feminism have always come hand-in-hand.

Robin is both a clinician and an educator, relishing opportunities to teach students and residents about her favorite topics in women's health. She most recently completed development of an online curriculum for miscarriage management, which can be found at EarlyPregnancyLossResources.org.

Her blog contributions about contraception and reproductive health can be found on Bedsider.org.

- couldnt find website
- Bedsider Website

Editorial Process

View all Contributors

Our Bodies, Ourselves:
The Nine U.S. Editions

← William H. Parker, MD

Carolyn M. Sampselle, PhD, RN →

Excerpts

Homepage
Our Story
What's New
OBOS People
Through the Years
OBOS Founders

Publications
Book Excerpts
Global Projects
Contact Us

