Specialty: Obstetrician and Gynecologist

An obstetrician (OB) is a physician specializing in pregnancy, childbirth, and the care that follows. A gynecologist (GYN) specializes in the health, diagnosis, and treatment of the female reproductive system. Training for these specialties often overlap, and many doctors are experts in both (OB/GYN). OB/GYNs manage all aspects of women's health involving the reproductive system through medical and surgical means.

Payments Received

What Are Payments Received?

Total Payments Received from Medical Companies Between 2014 and 2018:

- Payments Overview Overview
- Breakdown by Category Categories
- Breakdown by Company Payments Companies

Many obstetrician and gynecologists have received payments from medical companies ranging from small amounts in the form of food at conferences to large payments for consulting or royalties. Some have received payments for specific drugs. These payments are not necessarily cause for concern, but we encourage you to speak with Dr. Moshesh if they do raise any questions or issues.

Total Payments

This graph represents payments Dr. Moshesh received relative to the median payment received by similar doctors.

Dr. Moshesh received less money than a majority (69%) of obstetrician and gynecologists nationally. This overall payment amount is low, and is not necessarily a cause for concern. For more information, see the breakdown of payments by category.

The payments received by obstetrician and gynecologists can range across a variety of different categories. These can include travel and lodging, food and beverages from conferences, or fees for promotional speaking or consulting engagements. Some have also received payments from royalties or licenses, usually from having helped develop a product or drug.

Expense Categories

This chart represents the breakdown of payments Dr. Moshesh has received by specific category of payment. See the breakdown of payments by company.

These payments come from specific medical companies, sometimes for specific drugs. If you have any questions or concerns about the specific company or drug payments Dr. Moshesh has received, we encourage you to speak with them directly.

CareDash updates insurance information from a variety of sources including:

- National resources such as Center for Consumer Information and Insurance Oversight (CCIIO) from Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS)
- Office managers for the provider
- Third-party partners that represent the provider to CareDash

More questions? You can always contact us.

This section shows the financial relationships between doctors and pharmaceutical and medical device companies.

The U.S. government collects extensive records about these relationships. Some examples include:

- Consulting fees that companies pay to doctors, to get their input about their products and research
- Companies paying doctors to speak about their products at conferences
- Companies taking doctors out to dinner to tell them about a new drug or medical device
- Companies paying for travel, hotel rooms, and food at medical conferences

The U.S. government collects and publishes these records due to concerns about conflicts of interest. However, CareDash does not believe that these transfers of value necessarily mean a doctor is ethically compromised. Eating sponsored food at conferences and speaking on behalf of pharmaceutical companies are not the same thing. Further, we believe that there are doctors who have success with companies' products, get paid to speak about them, and are still foremost devoted to successful patient outcomes.

Therefore, in addition to showing the payments information, we provide some context, such as the median amount for doctors of that specialty, to help users assess potential conflicts of interest. We encourage users to discuss this information with their doctors.

Data in this section is calculated using Open Payments data, collected by Medicare as part of the Affordable Care Act. This data contains detailed records about payments and other transfers of value from pharmaceutical and medical device companies to doctors.

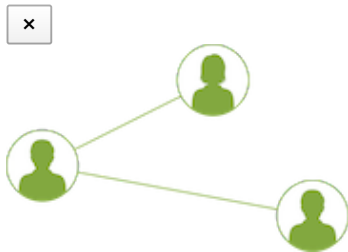

Although the Open Payments program is administered by Medicare, it covers almost all doctors in the United States, including those who do not accept Medicare insurance.
