Planned Parenthood of the Rocky Mountains paid well to say they don't cover for child sexual predators

Monica McCafferty
 Director of Marketing and Communications, Planned Parenthood of the Rocky Mountains

Yesterday, Planned Parenthood of the Rocky Mountains reacted to a Colorado Springs Gazette editorial declaring that the organization is probably worse than Penn State when it comes to covering up child sexual abuse; see our previous coverage below. Since then, Planned Parenthood has sent more info intended to dispel "myths" attacks like the editorial tend to perpetuate.

The editorial, written by onetime Westword profile subject Wayne Laugesen, argued that Planned Parenthood operators routinely fail to report evidence of sexual abuse against minors who call the outfit for services. Planned Parenthood spokeswoman Monica McCafferty told us that local policy calls for the termination of any employee who doesn't inform authorities about possible crimes, adding that no such incidents have taken place to her knowledge. Late yesterday, she reinforced the assertion with this statement:

While federal and state privacy laws prohibit us from discussing information related to any patient, we can state unequivocally that we maintain and enforce a zero-tolerance policy with respect to any failure to report child abuse and neglect as required by the Colorado Children's Code. We regularly train our employees on their reporting obligations and we actively audit our own practices and procedures to make certain they are followed.

Well that statement doesn't seem to pan out when you listen to actual taped phone calls to Planned Parenthood in Colorado and around the nation, and how they handle the request for an abortion by a 14 year old child admitting she was impregnated by a 22 year old man !

CALLER: Oh. Well, could I ask you real quick? I'm just worried about getting an abortion, because my friend told me that — like I'm going to be 14 next month, and she said that you guys would have to tell my parents. But my boyfriend's 22. Could he just sign — is he old enough to sign whatever it is and you wouldn't have to tell anybody?

CLINIC: You're 14 and your boyfriend is 22?

CALLER: Well, I'll be 14 next month.

CLINIC: So you're 13.

CALLER: Uh-huh.

CLINIC: Legally that's statutory rape, and if you were to express that to someone at our clinic we would definitely have to report it.

CALLER: Oh. But what should I do then?

CLINIC: You don't have to have parental consent to come here for an abortion. But like I said, if you express it to someone in the clinic and we document that, then legally we have to report it.

CALLER: So should somebody else bring me then?

CLINIC: I would suggest that.

CALLER: The thing is, I'm going to be 14 later on this month, and my friend said that you guys would have to tell my parents. But my boyfriend's 22. Is he old enough to take care of it, and you wouldn't have to tell anybody?

CLINIC: You're 13 years old right now?

CALLER: Yeah.

CLINIC: No. Hold on just a second, hon.

CALLER: All right.

CLINIC: What we would like to do to get you in here to kind of see where you're at in terms of — there's no such thing as parental notification, but we can kind of just figure out what's going on with your situation and the fee and all that kind of stuff, and to explain what happens during an abortion and all that.

CALLER: Me and my boyfriend were talking about all this. And he said he would pay cash for everything. But we don't want anyone to know about us. Would he have to fill out any forms or sign anything if he was paying for it?

CLINIC: Yeah, sure. Let me find out for you. Hold on.

(Short pause)

CLINIC: Appointments for you and all your information would be confidential.

CALLER: Okay. So my boyfriend wouldn't have to sign anything?

CLINIC: No, he doesn't sign anything. It doesn't have anything to do with him.....

(Later in conversation):

CALLER: Well, I just don't want anyone to know about me and my boyfriend.

My friend said that since I'm going to be 14 later on this month that my parents have to know about all this. But my boyfriend's 22, and he said that he would take care of everything. So would that be all right and you wouldn't have to tell anybody?

Later on Planned Parenthood gives the teen being abused by a 22 year old adult an out- call another location and keep quiet:

CLINIC: Sure. But you understand that the government or the Social Services does require that we report that because they consider that — because you're a teen and he's an adult.

CALLER: Well, what can happen?

CLINIC: I don't know what Social Services does once we report that. But that's entirely up to you if you want to be seen here. But we're required to do that. I can give you referrals of other places if you're interested. But the first order of business for you is to really have a pregnancy test.

CALLER: Yeah. Well, if I didn't tell anybody about him, would that be all right, and you wouldn't have to say anything then?

CLINIC: Well, probably not being truthful is going to be a problem, but that's up to you to decide what it is that you want to do. I wouldn't make any recommendations to you on that score.

CALLER: Okay.

CLINIC: But let me give you some other providers too that might be helpful.

First you want to give yourself a pregnancy test.

Mayfair is in Aurora. And that's 303-696-9761. That's another office. Dr. Bernstein, and that's 303-399-6120.

CALLER: What was that last one?

CLINIC: 399-6120.

CALLER: Okay? So if I don't tell them anything, that would be better?

CLINIC: That wouldn't be an advice that I would give you.
