My daughter is now 18. Dr. Emeruwa was my doctor in 1997 when she was born. She asked me how her birth was and for many times over her and her brother's life, I reflected on the experience of giving birth. She was a C-Section because due to Dr. Emeruwa's thoroughness, it was discovered I had Placenta Previa which is when the placenta is in FRONT of the baby which is very dangerous. This was discovered at 5 months. I ended up with a planned C-section. My first pregnancy was 27 months prior and a natural birth. I had a different doctor for my son who was born 10 days late as an INDUCED natural birth. I was open to a planned C-Section. Eighteen years later, I have a 2 healthy grown children! My daughter could have had problems. I have no problems from the epidural as many others have had who have had other incompetent doctors. My C-Section scar was done so well by Dr. Emeruwa it healed quickly and it's barely detectable. Dr. Emeruwa must have realized how vain i am and I thank him for it. I see he's expanded but I am going to make an effort to bring my daughter by on one of her college breaks to say hello and add her picture to the wall if he still has it.

I've never been so heart broken and treated so cold. I miscarried at 15weeks and had a D&C by Dr. Langston who is a phenomenal Doctor and is no longer with Aspen Medical Group. That same evening I was in excruciating pain, passing out, vomiting and sweating. My family member took me to the ER where I was admitted. Next morning Dr. Emeruwa came in asking if I was a drug addict, or if I was depressed. He told me your perfectly fine and I was suffering from grief and that if that was the case he could have referred me to a psychiatrist.

He has absolutely no bed side manner.

I am now seeing Dr. Koning who is very sensitive, and attentive to my new pregnancy. I'm also seeing a perinatologist because of the late term miscarriages I've had.

Dr. Emeruwa never investigated why I was miscarrying. He recommended I get sterilized.

It should have taken my first initial visit with this doctor to switch to another. However I had had enough of his insanity after the third visit. He was cold, condescending, walks in the exam room with a bad attitude creating a hostile invironment and basically interrogates you and any answer you give him pisses him off. You feel worst coming out of that place after seeing him. He talked down to me with complete disregard of what I was saying, basically, called me a liar after sharing with him the medicine I took for Lupus and Kidney disease makes my body feel things the disease itself doesnt. First visit, right off the bat he said I was depressed and needed psychiatry. He also did something I am still confused about, a young female assistant was in the room which is why i thought it was protocol but I dont think it was appropriate. 2nd visit i was confused because he didnt have much to say, still had a bad attitude, wanted me to drop my insurance company and switch to another. I ignored him and didnt switch. Third visit, right off the bat was told I was depressed and needed to see a psyhiatrist. I had to remind him he had already referred me to one of which i had seen and my results were that i was not depressed. He wasnt happy about my results but i could tell that irritated him off. I took a girl friend to witness what I was dealing with and we left the clinic in disbelief of how he treated me. She said she was so upset she felt nauseated and told me to switch primaries immidiately. He is awful and hurtful. Do NOT come to his office.

The RUDEST front staff I have ever dealt with. I called my insurance company and got a new referral because there is no way I was going to deal with those people again.

I went through my whole pregnancy in this doctors office and it went well. But at the end on my pregnancy I was assigned Dr. Emeruwa to handle my c section. At this point I was scheduled and amniosyntesis to see if my baby was ready for a week early delivery. When I went to my first appointment with him he told me i was selfish and refused to do my amnio and pushed my c section date back. First date was July 30th. It was rescheduled to August 7th. On August 5th I went into labor. And it was later determined my baby had been dead for three days. I believe it was this doctors fault and his carelessness of not staying with my first c section date that killed my baby. He made me feel like I was over reacting which I clearly wasnt. Something was wrong and my daughter died because of his careless mistake. Beware of this doctor!

Probably one of the worst OBs in the inland empire. My experience with him was in 2015 and similar to previous posts about his horrible bedside manners and just horrible care in general. I've never felt so disrespected. He basically told me he didn't want me as a patient while I was half naked on the check up table. I was planning on homebirth anyways which I notified him from the very beginning. Since it was my first I wanted to have him as emergency back up in case of transfer which I am entitled to. I understand if he didn't want that, he's entitled to that as well, but to tell me that and dismiss me at 39 weeks after I let him know since I was 8 weeks pregnant is pretty much unethical and in my opinion insurance fraud. You can't see a patient up until delivery and collect insurance money and then tel them to leave the office because they don't want anything to do with you right before delivery.... On a holiday weekend. I ended up having the best homebirth and birth experience and I loved it but I gave birth pretty much 5 days later and was unable to find another ob to take me on so late. I also had many other bad experiences at the office even with his other staff like the nurse practitioners. Horrible office, horrible doctor. Someone should really sue him.

I was going to the clinic he's at for pre natal care and was advanced to him as I am high risk. I am firing him as a doctor and going to one in another county! He wanted to make some risky moves like taking a factor five carrying mother off her lovenox because of a study he read. Risk? Death of me, baby, or both. He does not seem to be comfortable with me as a patient and I think that's why he wants me off. He's in and out and on to the next patient. I would rather give birth in the car than have him near me. I also heard through the speaker phone in the hall about a patient having major problems after a blood transfusion post delivery. He kept making his rounds faster than his usual fast. I'm halfway to my due date and have gained thirty lbs and he asked me how many candy bars I eat. Excuse me? Clinic looks nice but run.

I saw Dr. E recently. I let him know all my issues. I had a c-section and my scar and organs felt like they weren't healing properly. He said I was fine. I let him know of the sever back pain I had. It was so bad I couldn't sit in a chair for longer than hour. He referred me to physical therapy but said he would not approve my disability (which almost cost me my job). He told me he couldn't approve it cause they would probably deny it and "it would make him look bad". I called disability and they immediately told me to no longer see him as a doctor. That he problems has issues in the past and could possibly get his 3rd bad strike which would cause him to loose his license. The doctor wrote me a note excusing me from work but didn't approve my disability so I can still get an income while trying to get healthy. He told me the government doesn't pay for stay at home moms (implying I just wanted to get money and be home). He had no compassion or care that I have a family to take care of and am in excruciating pain almost all day long. I immediately called and switched doctors. I do not recommend anyone with a real problem see this doctor !
