Family Planning and Contraception

The Northwestern Center for Family Planning and Contraception is a comprehensive subspecialty healthcare program for women and is committed to providing personalized care of the highest quality.

The Center provides comprehensive family planning care including complex contraception consultation, laparoscopic and hysteroscopy sterilization procedures, and pregnancy terminations in the first and second trimesters.

Our team provides exceptional services to women of all ages and is dedicated to listening and responding to each patient's individual needs.

The providers at the Northwestern Center for Family Planning and Contraception are skilled OB/GYNs with specific expertise and training in all aspects of family planning and contraceptive care.

In addition to providing clinical care, our specialists also participate in a wide variety of clinical research projects, as well as teach residents and fellows best practices in family planning and contraception care.

The Center is a key training site for the Ryan Residency Training Program in Family Planning and Postdoctoral Fellowship in Family Planning.
