Plaintiff Davina Gibson ("Plaintiff") hereby brings this action, on behalf of herself and all persons and entities similarly situated, against Defendant Planned Parenthood Federation of America, Inc. ("Planned Parenthood" or "Defendant"). Plaintiff alleges, based on information and belief and investigation by counsel except where specifically alleged on the basis of personal knowledge, as follows:

NATURE OF THIS ACTION

- 1. This is a class action lawsuit for violations of the California Invasion of Privacy Act ("CIPA"), Cal. Penal Code §§ 631 and 632 and violations of the California Confidentiality of Medical Information Act ("CMIA"), Cal. Civ. Code § 56 et seq., as a result of Planned Parenthood's unlawful disclosure, due to a lack of obtained consent, of its website users' confidential and private healthcare information and other sensitive personally identifiable information ("PII"), such as name, phone number, physical address, email address, Internet Protocol ("IP") address and Facebook ID ("FID"). The information taken together that is unlawfully disclosed, due to a total and blatant disregard for obtaining consent, by Planned Parenthood alarmingly reveals to undisclosed third parties the exact identity of its website users and information regarding their inherently private and personal sexual and reproductive healthcare.
- 2. Plaintiff brings this class action against Defendant on behalf of all persons who have accessed and used in the state of California the website www.plannedparenthood.org and its related webpages (the "Website"), which is wholly owned and operated by Defendant.
- 3. While Planned Parenthood has both a Terms of Use and Privacy Policy listed on its Website, neither are enforceable or apply to Plaintiff and class members. Regardless of their enforceability, not only do both fail to provide the required reasonably conspicuous notice to Website users that Planned Parenthood shares their private health information and other PII, but Planned Parenthood does not seek or obtain the required consent or authorization from its Website users before disclosing such information to third parties.

- 4. Planned Parenthood intentionally and unlawfully aids, employs, agrees and conspires with various third parties, including Meta Platforms, Inc. ("Meta")¹, Google LLC ("Google"), Microsoft Corporation ("Microsoft") and Yahoo Inc. ("Yahoo") (collectively the "Third Parties"), to intercept communications sent and received by Plaintiff and class members on its Website, including communications containing private and protected sexual and reproductive health information and other highly sensitive PII, all without authorization or consent.
- 5. Planned Parenthood has intentionally and knowingly tapped or made an unauthorized connection with Plaintiff's and class members' communications by voluntarily embedding the Third Parties' tracking code ("Tracking Codes"), on its Website to bolster its benefits in various ways, including by using the data gathered by the Third Parties to build profiles for the purpose of retargeting and future marketing. Relatedly and significantly, the Third Parties do not only intercept the communications to provide analytics services for entities like Planned Parenthood, but they also collect, use and store the communications for their own benefit, including to improve their own personalized content delivery, advertising network machine-learning algorithms and ability to identify and target users. The information obtained by the Third Parties is used to identify specific individuals and their communications on the Website. This helps the Third Parties in many ways, and they seek to obtain as much information as possible on any given Internet user
- 6. Plaintiff brings this action for legal and equitable remedies, including, but not limited to, statutorily provided damages of $5,000 for each violation of CIPA and $1,000 for each violation of CMIA, against Planned Parenthood resulting from these unlawful actions.

PARTIES

- 7. Plaintiff Davina Gibson is, and has been at all relevant times, a resident and citizen of the State of California.
- 8. Defendant Planned Parenthood Federation of America, Inc. is a corporation organized under the laws of New York with its headquarters in New York City, New York. Planned Parenthood describes itself as a "trusted health care provider, an informed educator, a passionate advocate, and a global partner helping similar organizations around the world" that "delivers vital reproductive health care, sex education, and information to millions of people worldwide."2
- 9. Planned Parenthood was established in 1916 and has since grown into a nationwide network of nearly 600 health centers operated by 49 different local affiliates.³ It offers an extensive array of sexual and reproductive health services, including preventative care such as contraception, testing and treatment for sexually transmitted infections, as well as screenings for cervical and other types of cancers.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

- 10. Jurisdiction: This Court has jurisdiction over this class action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d). The matter in controversy, exclusive of interest and costs, exceeds the sum or value of $5,000,000, there are more than 100 putative members of the class defined below and is a class action in which Plaintiff, as well as nearly all members of the class, is a citizen of a state other than the state in which Planned Parenthood is incorporated and has its principal place of business in.
- This Court has personal jurisdiction over Planned Parenthood because it 11. conducts substantial business in California. Planned Parenthood has dozens of physical health centers located in California, including over 50 in this District alone.⁴ As a result, it regularly targets, markets and sells its services in California and this District. Planned Parenthood has sufficient minimum contacts with this State and sufficiently avails itself to the markets of this State through its services offered and marketing within this State to render the exercise of jurisdiction by this Court permissible. This Court's exercise of personal jurisdiction over Planned Parenthood also does not offend traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.

- 12. Planned Parenthood has continuous and systematic contact with California not only through its physical locations in the State, but also through its Website and related services and information offered through it, including telehealth appointments it regularly offers, markets and provides to California residents in this District, as the Website is available for use in California and this District. Planned Parenthood also calls, texts and emails Website users, including Plaintiff and other members of the class, regarding their healthcare and otherwise communicates with users via its Website.
- 13. California and this District also have a strong interest in this lawsuit to ensure that the privacy rights of California citizens are protected, as required by CIPA and CMIA. Plaintiff and other members of the class likewise have a strong interest in safeguarding their California privacy rights and will be able to best obtain effective relief in this jurisdiction, which has heard several CIPA and CMIA lawsuits to date and has several currently pending on its docket.
- 14. Venue is proper pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(2), (c) and (d) because a substantial part of the events, acts or omissions giving rise to Plaintiff's claims herein occurred in this District. Venue is also proper under 18 U.S.C. § 1965(a) because Planned Parenthood transacts substantial business in this District. Furthermore, Plaintiff resides in this District, used the Website in this District and received services from Planned Parenthood in this District. Moreover, the majority of the Third Parties are residents of this District.

15. Divisional Assignment: This action arises in Alameda County, in that a substantial part of the events which give rise to the claims asserted herein occurred in Alameda County. Pursuant to L.R. 3-2(e), all civil actions that arise in Alameda County shall be assigned to the San Francisco or Oakland Division.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

I. Planned Parenthood's Online Website

- 16. Planned Parenthood offers inpatient, outpatient and specialty healthcare nationwide. With over 100 clinics in California alone that serve nearly a million California residents per year, it is one of California's major healthcare providers.⁵ Planned Parenthood offers both in-person and telehealth appointments through its Website.
- 17. Planned Parenthood offers a full range of medical services but specializes in sexual and reproductive healthcare. The services offered through its Website include:
 - i. abortion services and referral;
 - ii. birth control;
 - iii. emergency contraception (morning-after pill);
 - iv. primary care;
 - v. HIV services;
 - vi. transgender hormone therapy;
 - vii. men's health services (sexual dysfunction, cancer screenings, etc.);
 - viii. patient sexual and reproductive healthcare education;
 - ix. pregnancy testing and services;
 - x. STD testing, treatment and vaccines; and
 - xi. women's services (pelvic exams, cancer screenings, etc.).

⁵ See Young, Samantha, If feds strip Planned Parenthood's funding, California would be especially hard hit, Cal Matters, Mar. 2, 2017, available at https://calmatters.org/health/2017/03/why-health-care-in-california-could-be-hardest-hit-if-planned-paren thood-loses-federal-funds/ (last accessed Aug 1, 2023).

- 18. The Website is accessible on all web browsers via mobile devices, desktop computers, tablets or similar devices.
- 19. Website users communicate and input their private and personal sexual and reproductive healthcare information and other sensitive PII in various ways via the Website. The healthcare information users disclose on the Website includes their sexual and reproductive healthcare history, the types of services and treatment they research and seek, when they research and schedule an appointment and prescriptions they research, request and are prescribed. The PII users disclose on the Website includes things like name, phone number, physical address, email address, IP address and FID. Taken together, this information reveals an enormous amount of information related to each specific Website user and their identity.
- 20. When using the Website, women are required to communicate and convey information to Planned Parenthood related to their own sexual and reproductive health to receive services, including, but not limited to, information regarding their sexual and reproductive health history, including specific and detailed information regarding their menstrual cycle, abortion history and sexually transmitted infection history, as well as information regarding various sexual and reproductive services and treatment they seek and receive from Planned Parenthood ("Women's Services"). Women also are required to provide Planned Parenthood with significant PII that identifies themselves, and Planned Parenthood collects PII from women while they use the Website.
- 21. Men also are required to communicate and convey information to Planned Parenthood related to their own sexual and reproductive health to receive services, including, but not limited to, information regarding their sexual and reproductive health history, including specific and detailed information regarding sexual dysfunction, birth control and sexually transmitted infection history, as well as information regarding various sexual and reproductive services and treatment they seek and receive from Planned Parenthood ("Men's Services"). Men are required to provide Planned Parenthood with significant PII that identifies themselves, and Planned Parenthood collects PII from men while they use the Website.

- 22. The PII provided by Website users and collected by Planned Parenthood along with their healthcare information allows the Third Parties to identify specific users and access their communications on the Website.
- 23. As part of providing sexual and reproductive healthcare, Planned Parenthood also offers prescriptions like birth control⁶, and Planned Parenthood also offers over-the-counter sexual and reproductive healthcare products like condoms.⁷
- 24. Planned Parenthood knowingly and intentionally incorporates a host of tracking technology, including the Tracking Codes, on its Website for marketing, advertising, analytics and other purposes without full and proper disclosure, let alone obtaining consent, to and from its Website users.
- 25. Planned Parenthood knew at the time it incorporated this software into its Website that it would result in the unlawful disclosure and interception of its Website users' communications on its Website by virtue of how these technologies function and the analytics and insight it receives as a result, yet it still chose not to obtain the proper consent or authorization required for disclosure. The consequences and dangers of these technologies is also becoming ubiquitous, and as one of the biggest healthcare providers in California, Planned Parenthood should especially be aware of the dangers posed by embedding the Tracking Codes on its Website.
- 26. The Third Parties allow website developers, like Planned Parenthood, to use the Tracking Codes in a mutually beneficial relationship in which both have full access to the data collected. As part of their symbiotic relationship, the Third Parties also provide Planned Parenthood with tools and analytics to leverage the information to reach individuals through advertisements. Planned Parenthood was fully aware of the sensitive nature of the data that it unlawfully disclosed and aided the Third Parties to intercept.

- 27. Despite this, Planned Parenthood intentionally chose and continues to incorporate the Third Parties' technologies into its Website to reap their benefit, including by increasing its overall revenue through advertisements and by improving the functionality of its website.
- 28. Planned Parenthood failed to obtain consent or proper authorization to disclose and assist in the interception of its Website users' private communications on its Website, and it did not fully inform or disclose to its Website users that it was sharing their inherently private and personal health information and other sensitive PII.
- 29. Planned Parenthood leaves Website users not only unaware that it reveals their identity and private healthcare information to the Third Parties, but it leaves them further unaware the disclosure of this information allows the Third Parties to benefit off the unlawfully disclosed information.
- II. Plaintiff and Class Members Have a Reasonable Expectation of Privacy in Their Private and Personal Sexual and Reproductive Health Information and Other Sensitive PII
- 30. Plaintiff and Class members have a reasonable expectation of privacy in their personal data and information communicated to Planned Parenthood through its Website, which includes private and personal sexual and reproductive health information and other sensitive PII, often dealing with Women's Services and Men's Services.
- 31. Planned Parenthood is a covered entity under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act, 42 U.S.C. § 1302, et seq. ("HIPAA"), which sets minimum federal standards for privacy and security of protected health information ("PHI"). PHI includes Women's Services and Men's Services.

- 32. HIPAA defines "protected health information" as "individually identifiable health information" that is "transmitted by electronic media; maintained in electronic media; or transmitted or maintained in any other form or medium." 45 C.F.R. § 160.103.
- 33. Under 45 C.F.R. § 160.103, HIPAA defines "individually identifiable information" as a "subset of health information, including demographic information collected from an individual" that is:
 - i. created or received by a healthcare provider;
 - ii. relates to the past, present or future physical or mental health or condition of an individual; the provision or health care to an individual; or the past, present or future payment for the provision of health care to an individual; and
 - iii. either identifies the individual or there is a reasonable basis to believe the information can be used to identify the individual.
 - 34. HIPAA requires Planned Parenthood to:
 - i. ensure the confidentiality, integrity and availability of all electronic PHI it creates, receives, maintains or transmits;
 - ii. identify and protect against reasonably anticipated threats to the security or integrity of the electronic PHI;
 - iii. protect against reasonably anticipated impermissible uses or disclosures of the PHI; and
 - iv. ensure compliance by its workforce to satisfy HIPAA's security requirements.
- 45 C.F.R. § 164.102, et seq.
- 35. HIPAA further prohibits a healthcare provider from disclosing PHI to third parties except when an individual has expressly consented in advance to the disclosure or under certain HIPAA-compliant contracts. 45 C.F.R. §§ 164.502 & 164.508.
- 36. Neither Planned Parenthood nor any of the Third Parties obtained Plaintiff's and class members' express consent to share or intercept their PHI, nor have Planned Parenthood or the Third Parties entered into a HIPAA-compliant contract that would permit sharing such health information.

37. In order to access care through the Website, Plaintiff and class members must not only disclose PHI, but they must disclose the most sensitive PHI a person has, namely, PHI related to personal sexual and reproductive health. Plaintiff and class members are required to provide this information in order to receive services from Planned Parenthood on its Website, and they provide this protected, personal and extremely private information with the understanding that Planned Parenthood is prohibited by HIPAA from disclosing it.

- 38. The extremely sensitive and private nature of personal sexual and reproductive health information is evidenced by the fact that there are many laws that give additional special protections related to sexual and reproductive health on top of the protections already given to PHI generally.⁸ As the FTC recently noted, "the exposure of health information and medical conditions, especially data related to sexual activity or reproductive health, may subject people to discrimination, stigma, mental anguish, or other serious harms."
- 39. Unlike other forms of PMI, the unlawful disclosure of personal sexual and reproductive healthcare may expose people to political, religious and familial controversy, 10 and public or third party knowledge of an individual's sexual and reproductive history may place them at risk of stigmatization. 11 Additionally, poor privacy and confidentiality practices regarding someone's use of contraceptives and other forms of birth control are believed to especially put at risk adolescents and young adults, including in the healthcare service quality they receive. 12

40. Planned Parenthood's legal obligations as a covered entity under HIPAA, in addition to the express and implied assurances of confidentiality it makes on its Website, create a reasonable expectation in Website users that their communications on the Website, which include their PHI, will remain private and confidential and not be shared with undisclosed third parties, including Meta, Google, Microsoft and Yahoo.

III. Plaintiff and Class Members Did Not Consent to Planned Parenthood's Collection and/or Use of Their Data

- 41. Plaintiff and class members have no idea that the Third Parties, at Planned Parenthood's direction, unlawfully collect, use and store their PHI and other sensitive PII that reveals their identity when they interact with the Website.
- 42. There is no indication, let alone proper and full disclosure, that the Tracking Codes are embedded on the Website to collect users' PHI and other sensitive PII that identifies Website users.
- 43. While Planned Parenthood has both a Terms of Use¹³ and Privacy Policy¹⁴ (collectively the "Policies") listed on its Website, neither are enforceable or apply to Plaintiff and class members. They are both in the form of what is known as a browse-wrap agreement.
- 44. Website users who enter the Website are not made aware of Planned Parenthood's Policies because they are located in small letters at the very bottom of

The second screenshot below is a depiction of the Website's entire homepage, which shows how hidden and buried the Policies are and how much "scrolling" is required by a Website user to finally reach the Policies' links at the bottom of the webpage. As evidenced by the first screenshot, the font for Planned Parenthood's policies is the same white font used throughout much of the Website without any distinguishing features. The size of the font for the links is some of the smallest on the entire page, and there is no indication that you can click on either the Terms of Use or Privacy Policy or that either are hyperlinked. They are not in a different color and not underlined.

45. Throughout the entire process of Website users using the Website for healthcare services, including conducting searches for different medical conditions and scheduling appointments, users are never presented with the Website's Terms of Use or Privacy Policy. When searching for medical conditions and scheduling appointments, there is absolutely no need, requirement or reason for a Website user to scroll to the very bottom of the webpage in order to receive services or otherwise use the Website.

- 46. As the Ninth Circuit recently held, for website agreement terms to be held enforceable: 1) they must be "reasonably conspicuous," and 2) users must "manifest unambiguous assent." Berman v. Freedom Financial Network, LLC, 30 F.4th 849 (9th Cir. 2022). Planned Parenthood's Policies are not enforceable because they fail both requirements.
- 47. First, reasonably conspicuous notice requires notice that is so obvious that there can be no doubt of the user's knowledge of the terms. See id. Plaintiff and class members had no reason to scroll to the bottom of the Website when searching for and scheduling medical appointments, and even if they did, there is no indication that the Terms of Use and Privacy Policy are hyperlinked (this only becomes known after a Website user hovers the computer, tablet, phone or similar pointer, clicker or mouse over the words). Second, Plaintiff and class members also never manifested unambiguous assent because it requires a user to unequivocally agree to the policy. Id. Not only did Plaintiff never see the Policies, but she was never asked to accept or consent to them, whether when first entering the Website with a pop-up, by checking a consent box, by clicking a button on the Website or in any other manner at any point during the healthcare researching and appointment scheduling process.
- 48. Even if the Terms of Use were to be found enforceable, which Plaintiff denies, Plaintiff and class members do not have reasonably conspicuous notice from the policy that Planned Parenthood shares its Website users' PHI in combination with other PII that reveals their identity and private sexual and reproductive health information. In its Terms of Use, Planned Parenthood has a section titled, "What Information Do We Collect," and the following, which includes all language from this section, is the only language the Terms of Use has on information that Planned Parenthood collects and shares:

When using the Online Services you may be asked if you would like to share certain personal health information collected by Apple's HealthKit with Planned Parenthood. By clicking on "SYNC" you are authorizing Planned Parenthood to collect such information. Sharing this information is voluntary; you do not have to click "SYNC" in order to use the Service.¹⁷

- 49. The Apple HealthKit is not associated with the healthcare researching and scheduling feature of the Website and has its own separate consent procedure. Therefore, nowhere in the Terms of Use does Planned Parenthood disclose that it is sharing its Website users' PHI in combination with other sensitive PII that reveals their identity and inherently private sexual and reproductive health information when they interact with the Website to research healthcare and schedule appointments. Because of this, Plaintiff and other class members could never, and never did, manifest unambiguous consent to the disclosure of such information.
- 50. Likewise, even if its Privacy Policy were to be found enforceable, which Plaintiff denies, Plaintiff and class members do not have reasonably conspicuous notice from it that Planned Parenthood shares its Website users' PHI in combination with other PII that reveals their identity and private sexual and reproductive health information. The Privacy Policy acknowledges the use of Google trackers and offers a link for a user to opt-out, but it hides significant information related to the Google tracking codes' true use and all of the information it is actually collecting. There is no mention of any of the other Third Parties. While the Privacy Policy acknowledges the possibility of disclosing information to service providers working on its behalf, it explicitly states that it does not apply to information shared by users in connection with healthcare services received online or through in-person visits at Planned Parenthood facilities, as such information is protected by state and federal law. Since

¹⁷ See Terms of Use, supra footnote 13.

¹⁸ See Privacy Policy, supra footnote 14.

 $^{^{19}}$ Id.

 $^{^{20}}$ Id.

Plaintiff alleges that the information being unlawfully disclosed by Planned Parenthood to the Third Parties constitutes information in connection with healthcare services received online, the Privacy Policy does not provide reasonably conspicuous notice that Planned Parenthood shares its Website users' PHI in combination with other PII that reveals their identity. Consequently, Plaintiff and other class members could never, and never did, manifest unambiguous consent to the disclosure of this information.

51. The only other time a Website user is presented with the Terms of Use and Privacy Policy in a different location then at the bottom of the Website depicted in footnotes 15 and 16 is when a Website user tries to donate to Planned Parenthood, as evidenced in the below screenshot. However, under the same analysis as in Berman, the Policies are not enforceable against Planned Parenthood donators because the notice is still not reasonably conspicuous and donators cannot, and do not, manifest unambiguous assent to the Policies. While the Policies are noticeably hyperlinked in a different color unlike on the Website's other pages, they are still in some of the smallest font on the webpage, they are not underlined, the notice of the Policies is located under, rather than above, the button a user needs to click to make a donation, the print is faint and set against a background lacking significant contrast and the user is not required to click the hyperlinks or otherwise read the Policies to proceed or otherwise affirmatively indicate that they agree to the Policies.

- 52. Therefore, the Website does not have any enforceable terms of use, user agreement, privacy policy or any other provision that permits the disclosure of its Website users' PHI and other sensitive PII to the Third Parties.
- 53. While using the Website, Plaintiff and class members had no reason to visit the Third Parties' websites to review their separate terms of use and/or privacy policies because they were unaware that Planned Parenthood shared their PHI and other sensitive PII with the Third Parties. Plaintiff and class members also had no reason to know that the Third Parties were using their private communications for their own analytics and advertising purposes.
- 54. Notwithstanding its unenforceable disclosures, Planned Parenthood does not have an unlimited right to share Plaintiff's and class members' health data. Planned Parenthood is a covered entity under HIPAA, which protects all electronic PHI Planned Parenthood "creates, receives, maintains, or transmits" in electronic form. See 45 C.F.R. § 160.103.

²¹ Screenshot taken on May 18-19, 2023 via Chrome web browser.

55. Further, HIPAA does not permit the use or disclosure of PHI to the Third Parties for use in targeted advertising without Plaintiff's and class members' express consent unless Planned Parenthood and the Third Parties entered into a HIPAA-approved contract with Planned Parenthood's Website users. See 45 C.F.R. §§ 164.502 & 164.508.

- 56. Neither Planned Parenthood nor the Third Parties obtained Plaintiff's and class members' express consent to share their PHI, nor have Planned Parenthood or the Third Parties entered into a HIPAA-compliant contract that would permit such sharing.
- 57. Thus, Planned Parenthood did not obtain consent to collect, use, store and assist in the interception of Plaintiff's and class members' PHI and other sensitive PII that identifies Website users.

IV. Planned Parenthood Shares Information With Third Parties

a. Meta

- 58. Planned Parenthood is unlawfully disclosing, due to a lack of obtained consent, to Meta its Website users' private and personal health information and other PII. This information reveals each Website user's specific identity that Meta then uses for advertising, analytics and other purposes.
- 59. Meta is one of the largest advertising companies in the county. Its advertising business began back in 2007 with the creation of "Facebook Ads," which was marketed as a completely new way of advertising online that would allow advertisers to deliver more tailored and relevant ads.²²

²² Facebook Unveils Facebook Ads, Meta, Nov. 6, 2007, available at https://about.fb.com/news/2007/11/facebook-unveils-facebook-ads/ (last accessed Aug. 1, 2023).

- 60. Facebook describes itself as a "real identity platform," meaning users are allowed only one account and must share "the name they go by in everyday life." To that end, when creating an account, users must provide their first and last name, along with their birthday and gender. 25
- 61. In 2021, Meta generated over $117 billion in revenue, ²⁶ and substantially all of Meta's revenue is generated by selling advertising space. ²⁷
- 62. Meta sells advertising space by highlighting its ability to target users.²⁸ Meta can target users effectively because it has access to user activity both on and off its site.²⁹ This allows Meta to make inferences about users beyond what they explicitly disclose, like their "interests" and "behavior."³⁰ Meta compiles this information into a generalized dataset called "Core Audiences," which allows advertisers to reach precise audiences based on specified targeting types.³¹

63. Advertisers can also build "Custom Audiences." Custom Audience enable advertisers to reach "people who have already shown interest in [their visited [their] website."33

- With Custom Audiences, advertisers can target existing customers 64. directly, and they can also build "Lookalike Audiences," which "leverages information such as demographics, interests and behaviors from your source audience to find new people who share similar qualities."34
- 65. Unlike Core Audiences, advertisers can build Custom Audiences and Lookalike Audiences only if they first supply Meta with the underlying data. They can do so through two mechanisms: by manually uploading customers' contact information or by utilizing Meta's "Business Tools." 35
- 66. The Meta Business Tools "help website owners and publishers, app developers, and business partners, including advertisers and others, integrate with [Facebook], understand and measure their products and services, and better reach and serve people who use or might be interested in their products and services."36 Put more succinctly, Meta's Business Tools are bits of code that advertisers can integrate into their platforms, thereby enabling Meta to intercept and collect user activity on those platforms, and they are automatically configured to capture certain data.³⁷

- 67. Meta's Business Tools can also track other events. Meta offers a menu of "standard events" from which advertisers can choose from, including what content a visitor views or purchases.³⁸ Advertisers can even create their own tracking parameters by building a "custom event."³⁹
- 68. One such Meta Business Tool advertisers, including Planned Parenthood, integrate into their platforms is the Meta Pixel, formerly known as the Facebook Pixel, which launched in 2015. The Meta Pixel "tracks the people and the types of actions they take," 40 and Meta touted the Meta Pixel as a new way to report and optimize for conversions, build audiences and get rich insights about how people use websites.
- 69. When a user accesses a website hosting the Meta Pixel, Meta's software script surreptitiously directs the user's browser to contemporaneously send a separate message to Meta's servers. This second secret and contemporaneous transmission contains the original GET request sent to the host website, along with additional data that the Meta Pixel is configured to collect.
- 70. This transmission is initiated by Meta code, written in JavaScript, and concurrent with communications with the host website. At relevant times, two sets of code are thus automatically run as part of the browser's attempt to load and read websites: the host website's own code and Meta's embedded code.

- Take, for example, an individual who navigates to the Website and clicks on a link for emergency contraception information. When that link is clicked, the Website user's browser sends a GET request to Planned Parenthood's server requesting that server to load the particular webpage, and as a result of Planned Parenthood's use of the Meta Pixel, also sends secret instructions back to the individual's browser without alerting the individual that this was happening. Meta's tracking code caused the browser to secretly duplicate the communication with Planned Parenthood, transmitting it to Meta's servers alongside additional information that transcribed the communication's content and the Website user's identity.
- 72.Taken together, Meta uses the information that Planned Parenthood unlawfully discloses to it in order to identify a specific person and their actions and communications on the Website. Meta, like the other Third Parties, uses this information for advertising, analytics and other purposes.
- 73. After collecting and intercepting the information described in the preceding paragraph, Meta processes it, analyzes it and assimilates it into datasets like Core Audiences and Custom Audiences.
- 74. Planned Parenthood, without its Website users ever communicating their FID on the Website, also discloses its Website's users' FID to Meta as a result of the Meta Pixel embedded on its Website. An FID, which is also a form of PII, is a unique and persistent identifier that Meta assigns to each of its users. With it, any ordinary person can look up the user's Facebook profile and name. Notably, while Meta can easily identify any individual on its Facebook platform with only their unique FID, so too can any ordinary person.⁴¹ If a Website user has an FID, the Meta Pixel was specifically designed for Meta to receive that Website user's FID from Planned Parenthood alongside other information when the user otherwise communicates on the Website and discloses personal and private information.

- 75. Importantly, if Meta Pixel collects data, from Planned Parenthood or other websites, about a non-Facebook user, Meta still retains and uses the data collected in its analytics and advertising services. These non-users are referred to as having "shadow profiles."⁴²
- 76. Therefore, the Meta Pixel embedded on the Website unlawfully collects data from the communications of all users on the Website, not just those with Facebook profiles. However, if a Website user has a Facebook profile, Meta is able to utilize the user's information in more ways, especially if the user does not log out of their Facebook account on the browser they access and use the Website on.
- 77. Still, regardless of whether a Planned Parenthood Website user has a Facebook profile or has ever even visited the Facebook or Meta websites, the Meta Pixel Planned Parenthood has embedded on its website unlawfully discloses communications from all of Planned Parenthood's Website users on its Website done via web browsers to Meta. This information includes private and personal healthcare information and other sensitive PII that allows Meta to identify the Website users and connect them and their communications with other information.
- 78. In addition to using the intercepted data to provide analytics services, Meta uses it to improve its personalized content delivery, advertising network, machine-learning algorithms and its ability to identify and target users.

⁴¹ See, e.g., How usernames and user IDs are used on Facebook Profiles, Facebook, available at https://www.facebook.com/help/211813265517027# (last accessed Aug. 1, 2023).

79. Planned Parenthood knowingly and intentionally uses the Meta Pixel and tracking technology on its Website. As a result, Planned Parenthood unlawfully discloses, due to a lack of obtained consent, and aids in Meta's interception of Planned Parenthood's Website users' communications on its Website, which includes private and personal health information and other sensitive PII. The effect of Planned Parenthood's actions is that Meta is able to identify each specific individual Planned Parenthood Website user and access the information they provide on the Website.

b. Google

- 80. Planned Parenthood also is unlawfully disclosing, due to a lack of obtained consent, to Google its Website users' private and personal health information and other PII. This information reveals each Website user's specific identity that Google then uses for advertising, analytics and other purposes.
- 81. Google is one of the most valuable publicly traded companies in the world with a market capitalization of over $1.5 trillion dollars. At its core, Google is an advertising company and "make[s] money" from "advertising products [that] deliver relevant ads at just the right time," generating "revenues primarily by delivering both performance advertising and brand advertising." In 2020, Google generated $146.9 billion in advertising revenue, which amounted to more than 80 percent of Google's total revenues for the year.
- 82. The Website sends users' private and personal health information and other sensitive PII that identifies each specific Website user to Google using Google Analytics, a web analytics service that allows website owners to track site visitors' actions through tracking pixels and other technology in order to target such visitors with personalized advertisements.

- 83. Google touts Google Analytics as a marketing platform that offers "a complete understanding of your customers across devices and platforms..." ⁴⁶ It allows companies and advertisers that utilize it the ability to "[u]nderstand how your customers interact across your sites and apps, throughout their entire lifestyle," "[u]ncover new insights and anticipate future customer actions with Google's machine learning to get more value out of your data," "[t]ake action to optimize marketing performance with integrations across Google's advertising and publisher tools" and "[q]uickly analyze your data and collaborate with an easy-to-use interface and shareable reports." ⁴⁷
- 84. Google Analytics is incorporated into Planned Parenthood's website by addition of small pieces of JavaScript measurement. This code immediately intercepts a user's interaction with the webpage every time the user visits it.
- 85. Google Analytics also collects the IP addresses of individual Internet users in order to facilitate and track Internet communications.
- 86. Taken together, Google can use the information that Planned Parenthood unlawfully discloses to it in order to identify a specific Website user's actions and communications on the Website.
- 87. Regardless of whether a Planned Parenthood Website user has a Google account or has ever even visited the Google website, the Google tracking codes Planned Parenthood has embedded on its Website unlawfully disclose communications from all of Planned Parenthood's Website users on its Website done via web browsers to Google. This information includes private and personal healthcare information and other sensitive PII that allows Google to identify the Website users and connect them and their communications with other information.

- 88. Google Analytics offers website owners an opt-in IP anonymization feature. This feature is designed to help website owners comply with their own privacy policies and the recommendations of data protection authorities.
- 89. If the IP anonymization feature is enabled by the website owner, an additional parameter is added to the communication between website visitors' computers and the Google Analytics server, defined as aip: 1 and depicted below.

- 92. Once Google's code collects the data, it packages the information and sends it to Google Analytics for processing. Google Analytics also allows the company to customize the processing of the data, such as applying filters. Once the data is processed, it is stored on a Google Analytics' database and cannot be changed.
- 93. Google then uses this data to generate reports for Planned Parenthood to help analyze the data. These include reports on acquisition (e.g., information about where your traffic originates, the methods by which users arrive at your platform and the marketing efforts you use to drive traffic), engagement (e.g., measure user engagement by the events and conversion events that users trigger and the web pages and application screens that users visit) and demographics (e.g., classify your users by age, location, language and gender along with interests they express through their online browsing and purchase activities).

- 94. In addition to using the data collected through Google Analytics to provide marketing and analytics services, Planned Parenthood also uses the data to improve its advertisement targeting capabilities and data points on users and consumers.
- 95. Planned Parenthood is also unlawfully disclosing and sharing information with DoubleClick, a "Google Ads" conversion tracking product.
- 96. When a user visits a website or interacts with an application that displays Google Ads, Google's advertising platform, their browser sends a request to googleads.g.doublock.net to fetch the advertising content. This domain handles the advertising serving infrastructure, including tracking impressions, clicks and conversions.
- 97. Planned Parenthood knowingly and intentionally uses Google's tracking pixels and other technology on its Website via Google Analytics and DoubleClick. As a result, Planned Parenthood unlawfully discloses, due to a lack of obtained consent, and aids in Google's unlawful interception of Planned Parenthood's Website users' communications on its Website, which includes private and personal health information and other sensitive PII. The effect is that Google is able to identify each specific individual Planned Parenthood Website user and access the information they provide on the Website.

c. Microsoft

- 98. Planned Parenthood also is unlawfully disclosing, due to a lack of obtained consent, to Microsoft its Website users' private and personal health information and other PII. This information reveals each Website user's specific identity that Microsoft then uses for advertising, analytics and other purposes.
- 99. Planned Parenthood is unlawfully sharing information with Microsoft through bat.bing.com ("Bing Ads"), which is a domain owned and operated by Microsoft and used for tracking and analytics purposes, and which is used on the Website.

- 100. When a website user interacts with Bing Ads, which is also known as Microsoft Ads and is Microsoft's advertising platform, Bing Ads is responsible for collecting certain information and setting cookies on the website user's browsers.
- 101. These cookies help track and analyze website user behavior, measure the effectiveness of advertising campaigns and provide relevant advertisements based on the website user's interests and browsing history.
- 102. Regardless of whether a Planned Parenthood Website user has a Microsoft account or has ever even visited the Microsoft website, the Microsoft tracking codes Planned Parenthood has embedded on its Website unlawfully disclose communications from all of Planned Parenthood's Website users on its Website done via web browsers to Microsoft. This information includes private and personal healthcare information and other sensitive PII that allows Microsoft to identify the Website users and connect them and their communications with other information.
- 103. Planned Parenthood knowingly and intentionally uses Microsoft's code on its Website. 104. Planned Parenthood is also unlawfully disclosing, due to a lack of obtained consent, to Yahoo its Website users' private and personal health information and other PII. This information reveals each Website user's specific identity that Yahoo then uses for advertising, analytics and other purposes.

105. The Website sends its users' private and personal sexual and reproductive health information and other sensitive PII to Yahoo using Yahoo Analytics, which Planned Parenthood has embedded into its Website.

- 106. Yahoo Analytics enables website owners to track various metrics, such as page views, unique visitors, bounce rates and conversion rates.
- 107. Yahoo Analytics uses a variety of tools, including "IP addresses, web beacons, SDKs, cookies, and similar technologies to recognize, associate, and collect data about visitors to Yahoo's and our customer's sites, apps, products, brands and services."⁵⁰
- 108. Regardless of whether a Planned Parenthood Website user has a Yahoo account or has ever even visited the Yahoo website, the Yahoo tracking codes Planned Parenthood has embedded on its Website unlawfully disclose communications from all of Planned Parenthood's Website users on its Website done via web browsers to Yahoo. This information includes private and personal healthcare information and other sensitive PII that allows Yahoo to identify the Website users and connect them and their communications with other information.

- Planned Parenthood to disclose her private and personal sexual and reproductive health information and other sensitive PII that she communicated to Planned Parenthood on a web browser via the Website. This information allows the Third Parties to identify each specific individual Planned Parenthood Website user and access the communications they provide.
- 116. Plaintiff was never provided any full and proper written notice that Planned Parenthood disclosed her protected sexual and reproductive health information and other sensitive PII that revealed her identity when she used the Website, nor was she provided any means of opting out of all such disclosures. Planned Parenthood nonetheless knowingly and intentionally disclosed Plaintiff's private and personal sexual and reproductive health information and other sensitive PII to the Third Parties.
- 117. By law, Plaintiff is entitled to privacy in her private and personal sexual and reproductive health information and confidential communications. Planned Parenthood deprived Plaintiff and other members of the Class of their privacy rights when it:
 - (1) implemented a system that surreptitiously tracked, recorded and disclosed Plaintiff's and other Website users' confidential interactions, communications, protected health information and other sensitive PII via the Website;
 - (2) disclosed Website users' protected health information and other sensitive PII communicated on the Website to numerous Third Parties, who are all unauthorized eavesdroppers; and
 - (3) undertook this pattern of conduct without notifying Plaintiff and other Website users and without obtaining their express written consent. Plaintiff did not discover that Planned Parenthood disclosed and assisted the Third Parties in intercepting her private and personal health information and other sensitive PII until July 2023.

118. Planned Parenthood offers Website users a variety of Women's Services and Men's Services, and users may hover over the "get care" tab on the Website's homepage and choose the "our services" button to see the various services offered. Once the Website users are presented with a list of the Planned Parenthood services offered to them, they can also click the "learn more" tab to learn more about each service offered on the Website by Planned Parenthood.

121. Furthermore, as previously alleged, information communicated and shared by Website users through the search bar on the Website is also unlawfully disclosed to the Third Parties. Notably, users can input anything into the search bar, so there is a seemingly endless amount of private and personal information that is unlawfully disclosed by Planned Parenthood to the Third Parties via its search bar. The example below shows what is transmitted to the Third Parties when a Website user searches for information and services related to HIV. The transmitted information includes PII that reveals the Website user's identity to the Third Parties, along with all of the other inherently sensitive information that the user communicated on the Website when searching for information and services related to HIV.

122. The above illustrations highlight just some of the vast information Planned Parenthood unlawfully discloses to the Third Parties and unlawfully aids the Third Parties to intercept. Taken together, this information reveals not only the identity of Planned Parenthood Website users, but it also gives the Third Parties access to their inherently sensitive and private healthcare information.

123. By design of the Tracking Codes Planned Parenthood chooses to utilize on its Website, it was well aware that placing the Tracking Codes on its Website would result in the unlawful disclosure and use of Plaintiff's and class members' PHI and other sensitive PII that reveals a person's identity to the Third Parties.

124. Further, as a covered entity under HIPAA, Planned Parenthood is required by law to know the types of information it collects and how it is supposed to preserve and maintain it.

VII. Plaintiff and Other Class Members Suffered Great Harm as a Result of the Unlawful Disclosure of Their PHI and Other Sensitive PII

125. Businesses have been built around the collection of personal data as "data is widely considered to be among the world's most valuable resources" because of the potential revenue and business value it can provide. Personal data has been recognized as "a valuable commodity, similar to commodities like oil and gold."⁷³

126. The Federal Trade Commission ("FTC") has identified data collected about a person's precise location and information about their health as the most sensitive categories of data collected. Standing alone, these data points "pose an incalculable risk to personal privacy," but when technology companies collect the data, combine it and sell or monetize it, this amounts to an "unprecedented intrusion" and creates a "new frontier of potential harms to consumers."⁷⁴

127. For example, the FTC recently settled a lawsuit against Flo Health, alleging that the company shared sensitive health information with Google and Meta collected from its period and fertility tracking app, despite promising to keep this information private. The FTC warns that the misuse of such health information, including reproductive health data, exposes consumers to significant harm because: (i) criminals can use the health data to facilitate phishing scams or commit identity theft; (ii) stalkers or other criminals can use the data to inflict physical and emotional injury; and (iii) the exposure of health information and medical conditions can subject people to discrimination, stigma, mental anguish and other serious harms.⁷⁵

128. Chris Bowen, the Chief Privacy and Security Officer for ClearData, explained that health information is so valuable because "[y]ou can build [an] entire human persona around a health record. You can create or seek medical treatment, abuse drugs, or get prescriptions." This is part of the reason why healthcare data may be valued at up to $250 per record on the black market.

- 129. However, personal data is not just valuable to criminals. It is common knowledge that there is an economic market for consumers' personal data, including the PHI and other sensitive PII Planned Parenthood collects from Plaintiff and other class members.
- 130. Healthcare providers, such as Planned Parenthood, "sit on treasure troves: a stockpile of patient health data stored as electronic medical records." These "files show what people are sick with, how they were treated, and what happened next." Taken together, "they're hugely valuable resources for medical discovery."
- 131. Even when healthcare providers de-identify records by removing identifying information such as names, locations and phone numbers, healthcare providers can still sell the data to partners for research.
- 132. Unsurprisingly, healthcare groups have taken advantage of deidentifying medical records. For instance, the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota is working with a startup company to develop algorithms in order to diagnose and manage conditions based on health data.⁸¹

133. Given the significant monetary value of PHI, Planned Parenthood has deprived Plaintiff and the class members of the economic value of their PHI by acquiring and disclosing such data without providing proper consideration for their property.

VIII. Plaintiff Davina Gibson's Experience with the Website

- 134. Davina Gibson is an adult California resident and visited Planned Parenthood's Website on numerous occasions over the one year prior to filing this action.
- 135. She first started using the Website in 2016, and she has used it as recently as July 2023.
- 136. She has used the Website for Women's Services and other personal healthcare during the relevant time period, including to schedule appointments and research Women's Services and other healthcare information.
- 137. As part of obtaining Women's Services from Planned Parenthood, she receives various communications from Planned Parenthood including by phone call, text message and email. She has also seen advertisements for Planned Parenthood while residing in California, and it is always one of the first names to appear when conducting an Internet search on a browser via a search engine, like Google, for sexual and reproductive healthcare services in California.
- 138. Ms. Gibson has also used the search bar on the Website during the relevant time period searching for information and appointments related to Women's Services and other healthcare.
- 139. She primarily accesses and uses the Website on a browser through her cellphone.

140. Over the past year, Ms. Gibson conveyed significant healthcare and other personal information on the Website, including research related to Women's Services, when and where she schedules appointments for Women's Services, the types of medical treatment she seeks through Planned Parenthood, the specialty and names of the providers with whom she seeks treatment with, the locations of the Planned Parenthood facilities she wishes to go to and prescriptions she researches, seeks and is provided. She also has simultaneously communicated considerable PII alongside this information, including, but not limited to, her IP address and FID.

- 141. While using the Website, including to research and schedule appointments, Ms. Gibson not only never agreed or consented to Planned Parenthood's Privacy Policy or Terms of Service, but she never even saw its Privacy Policy or Terms of Service. She also never consented in any way to the disclosure of her PHI and other PII that revealed her identity.
- 142. Unbeknownst to Ms. Gibson, Planned Parenthood allowed the Third Parties to have real-time access to her communications on the Website because she accessed the Website, embedded with all of the Tracking Codes, on various web browsers on her mobile phone and computer.
- 143. The Third Parties utilized this access to surreptitiously gather Ms. Gibson's sensitive PHI, which includes information related to Women's Services, and other PII. This information taken together reveals her specific identity and specific communications on the Website to the Third Parties.
- 144. Ms. Gibson did not consent to the disclosure or interception of her electronic communications with Planned Parenthood to the Third Parties, and she never provided a signed authorization for the release of her medical information.
- 145. Ms. Gibson never visited the Third Parties' websites to review their separate terms of use and/or privacy policies because she was unaware that Planned Parenthood shared her PHI and other sensitive PII that revealed her identity with the Third Parties. She was not even aware that the Tracking Codes were embedded on the Website.

- 146. Ms. Gibson provided her PHI and other sensitive PII with the reasonable expectation that Planned Parenthood is prohibited from disclosing it as a covered entity under HIPAA, in addition to the express and implied assurances of confidentiality it makes on its Website.
- 147. When she accessed the Website, the Third Parties collected her PHI and other sensitive PII from Planned Parenthood and had already collected some or all of her personal information from other websites in their wiretap networks.
- 148. Thus, the Third Parties were able to link Ms. Gibson's previous browsing activity on other websites with her intercepted activity on the Website, revealing and connecting an enormous amount of private information about herself.
- 149. As a result, the Third Parties used her unlawfully collected data to improve their own products, services and algorithms, and the Third Parties improperly viewed and used her PHI and other sensitive PII in connection with targeted marketing to bolster profits.
- 150. In order to receive the best care from Planned Parenthood and its healthcare providers, Ms. Gibson is required to use the Website because it is the only centralized location where she can research the various treatment options and providers offered by Planned Parenthood and book appointments related to her specific healthcare needs, including for Women's Services.
 - 151. Ms. Gibson has never donated to Planned Parenthood.
- 152. Ms. Gibson has had a Facebook account since 2018, which she uses every day. She does not explicitly log out of Facebook when she is done using it.

TOLLING, CONCEALMENT AND ESTOPPEL

153. The applicable statutes of limitation have been tolled as a result of Planned Parenthood's knowing and active concealment and denial of the facts alleged herein.

154. Planned Parenthood has secretly incorporated the Tracking Codes into its Website, providing no indication to Website users researching healthcare and scheduling appointments that they were interacting with a Website that shares their data, which includes highly private and personal sexual and reproductive health information and other sensitive PII that reveals their specific identity, with the Third Parties.

- 155. Planned Parenthood had exclusive knowledge that its Website incorporated all of the Tracking Codes, yet it failed to disclose that fact to its Website users. It also failed to properly disclose to Plaintiff and class members that by interacting with the Website, their PHI, including private and personal sexual and reproductive health information, and other sensitive PII would be disclosed to and intercepted by the Third Parties, revealing not only their identity but also a significant amount of healthcare information about themselves.
- 156. Plaintiff and class members could not with due diligence have discovered the full scope of Planned Parenthood's and the Third Parties' conduct because it is highly technical and there were no disclosures or other indications that would inform a reasonable consumer that Planned Parenthood was disclosing, and assisting the Third Parties in intercepting, their Website users' PHI and other sensitive PII from the Website.
- 157. The earliest Plaintiff and class members could have known about Planned Parenthood's conduct was shortly before the filing of this Complaint.
- 158. Planned Parenthood was under a duty to disclose the nature and significance of its data collection practices but did not do so. It is therefore estopped from relying on any statute of limitations under the discovery rule.
- 159. Additionally, Planned Parenthood engaged in fraudulent conduct to prevent Plaintiff and class members from discovering the disclosure and interception of their PHI and other sensitive PII. Planned Parenthood misled Plaintiff and class members to believe their data, which includes incredibly private and personal sexual and reproductive health information as well as PII revealing their identity, would not be disclosed or intercepted.

- 160. Plaintiff and class members were not aware that Planned Parenthood disclosed and assisted in the interception of their data, which includes PHI and other sensitive PII that revealed their identities.
- 161. Plaintiff and class members exercised due diligence to uncover the facts alleged herein and did not have actual or constructive knowledge of Planned Parenthood's misconduct by virtue of its fraudulent concealment.
- 162. Accordingly, all statutes of limitation are tolled under the doctrine of fraudulent concealment.

CLASS ALLEGATIONS

163. Plaintiff brings this action both on behalf of herself and all others similarly situated (the "Class") pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 23(a), (b)(2) and (b)(3). The Class is defined as follows:

All natural persons who, during the class period, used the Planned Parenthood Website in California and had their private medical information or other sensitive personal or personally identifiable information unlawfully disclosed to third parties.

Specifically excluded from this Class are Defendant, its officers, directors or employees, any entity in which Defendant has a controlling interest and any affiliate, legal representative, heir or assign of Defendant. Also excluded from this Class are any judicial officers presiding over this action, the members of the judicial officer's immediate family and staff and any juror assigned to this action.

- 164. Certification of Plaintiff's claims for class-wide treatment is appropriate because Plaintiff can prove the elements of her claims on a class-wide basis using the same evidence as would be used to prove those elements in individual actions alleging the same claims.
- 165. Class Identity: The Class is readily identifiable and one for which adequate records exist.
- 166. Numerosity: The members of the Class are so numerous that their individual joinder is impractical, and the Class is reasonably believed to include hundreds of thousands of persons. Further, the size and relatively modest value of the claims of individual Class members renders joinder impractical. The precise number or identification of Class members is presently unknown to Plaintiff but may be ascertained from Planned Parenthood's and third parties' records. Class members may be notified of the pendency of this action by mail, email, Internet postings and publication.

- 167. Typicality: Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of the Class members because Plaintiff is an individual who had her PHI and other sensitive PII unlawfully disclosed, collected, captured, received or otherwise obtained and/or used and stored by various third parties without her knowledge or consent. Plaintiff's claims arise from the same common course of conduct, give rise to the same claims of injury and seek the same relief as those of the other Class members.
- 168. Common Questions Predominate: Questions of law and fact common to the Class, which generate common answers, include, but are not limited to:
 - a. Whether Planned Parenthood's Terms of Use and/or Privacy Policy applies to Plaintiff and Class members;
 - b. Whether Planned Parenthood provided adequate and proper notice to Plaintiff and Class members that it discloses their PHI and other sensitive PII that reveals their identity;
 - c. Whether Planned Parenthood received the required consent from Plaintiff and Class members needed in order to disclose their PHI and other sensitive PII that reveals their identity; and
 - d. Whether Plaintiff and Class members are entitled to damages under CIPA, CMIA or any other relevant statute.
- 169. These and other questions of law and fact common to all members of the Class predominate over questions affecting only individual members of the Class.
- 170. Adequacy: Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Class because Plaintiff's interests are aligned with, and are not antagonistic to, those of the other Class members. Plaintiff has retained counsel competent and experienced 2728 in the prosecution of complex and class action litigation to represent herself and the Class.

Superiority: A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy for the following reasons: (i) individual joinder of all Class members is impractical; (ii) prosecution as a class action will eliminate the possibility of duplicative litigation; (iii) prosecution of separate actions by individual Class members would create the risk of inconsistent or varying decisions and adjudications, creating uncertain and potentially incompatible standards for adjudicating the claims and defenses asserted in this action; (iv) the relatively small amount of damages suffered by individual Class members, when compared to the expense and burden of individual prosecution of their individual claims, preclude feasible and practical individual actions to seek redress for the violations alleged; and (v) individual litigation would greatly magnify the delay and expense to all parties and to the court system. For these reasons, a class action will reduce case management difficulties and provide the benefits of unitary adjudication, economy of scale and comprehensive supervision by a single court.

172. In addition, Planned Parenthood has acted on grounds generally applicable to the Class, making final injunctive relief appropriate for the Class as a whole.

CALIFORNIA LAW APPLIES TO THE ENTIRE CLASS

- 173. California substantive law applies to Plaintiff and every member of the Class. California's substantive laws may be constitutionally applied to the claims of Plaintiff and the other members of the Class under the Due Process Clause, 14th Amend. § 1 and the Full Faith and Credit Clause, Art. IV § of the United States Constitution.
- 174. California has significant contacts, or significant aggregation of contacts, to the claims asserted by Plaintiff and Class members, thereby creating state interests to ensure that the choice of California state law is not arbitrary or unfair.

175. As aforementioned, Planned Parenthood conducts substantial business in California such that California has an interest in regulating Planned Parenthood's conduct under its laws.

176. The application of California laws to the Class is also appropriate under California's choice of law rules because California has significant contacts to the claims of Plaintiff and the proposed Class, and California has a greater interest than any other interested state in applying its laws here given Planned Parenthood's facilities throughout California and the location of the conduct at issue.

COUNT I

Violation of the California Invasion of Privacy Act Cal. Penal Code § 631

(On Behalf of Plaintiff and the Class)

- 177. Plaintiff repeats the allegations contained in the paragraphs above as if fully set forth herein and brings this count individually and on behalf of the members of the Class.
- 178. The CIPA is codified at Cal. Penal Code §§ 630 to 638. CIPA begins with its statement of purpose that it is to "protect the right of privacy of the people of [California]" from the threat posed by "advances in science and technology [that] have led to the development of new devices and techniques for the purpose of eavesdropping upon private communications." Cal. Penal Code § 630.
- 179. Cal. Penal Code § 631 imposes liability on any person who "by means of any machine, instrument, contrivance, or in any other manner":
 - (1) "intentionally taps, or makes any unauthorized connection . . . with any telegraph or telephone wire, line, cable, or instrument, including the wire, line, cable, or instrument;"
 - (2) "willfully and without the consent of all parties to the communication, or in any unauthorized manner, reads, or attempts to read, or to learn the contents or meaning of any message, report, or communication while the same is in transit or passing over any wire, line, or cable, or is being sent from, or received at any place within [the state of California];"

- (3) "uses, or attempts to use, in any manner, or for any purpose, or to communicate in any way, any information so obtained;" or
- (4) "aids, agrees with, employs, or conspires with any person or persons to unlawfully do, or permit, or cause to be done any of the acts of things mentioned above in this section."

Cal. Penal Code § 631(a).

- 180. Planned Parenthood is a person for purposes of Cal. Penal Code § 631.
- 181. To avoid liability under Cal. Penal Code § 631(a), a defendant must show it had the consent of all parties to a communication.
- 182. At all relevant times, Planned Parenthood intentionally tapped or made an unauthorized connection with respect to Plaintiff's and Class members' communications on its Website, which include PHI and other sensitive PII, by placing various Tracking Codes on its Website without the authorization and consent of Plaintiff and the Class members, thereby violating CIPA. Planned Parenthood intentionally procured the Tracking Codes from the Third Parties and embedded and installed them on its Website.
- 183. At all relevant times, Planned Parenthood also aided, agreed with and conspired with the Third Parties to track and intercept Plaintiff's and Class members' PHI and other sensitive PII while they accessed the Website. These communications were intercepted without the authorization and consent of Plaintiff and Class members, thereby violating CIPA.
- 184. Planned Parenthood, when aiding and assisting the Third Parties' wiretapping of its Website users' communications and interactions on its Website, intended to provide benefit to the Third Parties and for the Third Parties to learn some meaning of the content intercepted.
- 185. Section 631(a)'s applicability is not limited to phone lines but also applies to "new technologies" such as computers, the Internet and email. See Matera v. Google Inc., 2016 WL 8200619, at *21 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 12, 2016) (CIPA applies to "new technologies" and must be construed broadly to effectuate its remedial purpose of protecting privacy); Bradley v. Google, Inc., 2006 WL 3798134, at *5-6 (N.D. Cal. Dec.

22, 2006) (CIPA governs "electronic communications"); In re Facebook, Inc. Internet Tracking Litigation, 956 F.3d 589 (9th Cir. 2020) (reversing dismissal of CIPA and common law privacy claims based on Facebook's collection of consumers' internet browsing history).

- 186. The following items constitute "machine[s], instrument[s], or contrivance[s]" under the CIPA, and even if they do not, which Plaintiff denies, the Tracking Codes fall under the broad catch-all category of "any other manner":
 - i. The computer codes and programs the Third Parties use to track Plaintiff's and Class members' interactions and communications while they navigate the Website;
 - ii. Plaintiff's and Class members' browsers;
 - iii. Plaintiff's and Class members' computing and mobile devices;
 - iv. Third Parties' web and advertisement servers; and
 - v. The plans the Third Parties carried out to effectuate their tracking and interception of Plaintiff's and Class members' communications while they were using a web browser or mobile application to access the Website.
- 187. The healthcare communication information that Planned Parenthood transmitted using the Tracking Codes, such as personal sexual and reproductive health and doctor appointment booking information, constituted PHI. Website users also communicate significant PII on the Website that Planned Parenthood simultaneously transmitted using the Tracking Codes. Taken together, the Third Parties can use the information that Planned Parenthood unlawfully discloses to it to identify a specific person and their actions and communications on the Website.
- 188. Planned Parenthood facilitated the interception and simultaneous transmission to the Third Parties and others of Plaintiff's and Class members' PHI and other sensitive PII while the information was "in transit" and in real time. As a result of the Tracking Codes Planned Parenthood embedded on its Website, when users interacted with the Website, their communications were simultaneously redirected to the Third Parties while they were still on their way to Planned Parenthood.

- 189. The information communicated between Plaintiff and Class members, Planned Parenthood and the Third Parties was transmitted to and/or from the state of California.
- 190. Redirection of data as a result of tracking coding before that data reaches its originally intended recipient (here, Planned Parenthood) does not constitute a separate communication for the purposes of exclusion from CIPA.
- 191. Planned Parenthood enabled non-parties to the communications to "read" the communications for the purposes of CIPA. For example, the Third Parties can see when individuals searched for doctors with particular specialties, what conditions they researched, when and where they made appointments and information they communicated related to Women's Services and Men's Services.
 - 192. As demonstrated hereinabove, Planned Parenthood violated CIPA by:
 - (1) intentionally tapping or making an unauthorized connection with respect to Plaintiff's and Class members' communications, which include PHI and other sensitive PII, by placing various Tracking Codes on its Website, all without their Website users' authorization or consent; and
 - (2) aiding and permitting the Third Parties to receive its Website users' interactions and communications on the Website without their authorization or consent.

See Cal. Penal Code § 631.

193. Cal. Penal Code § 637.2(a) provides:

Any person who has been injured by a violation of this chapter [including Penal Code § 631] may bring an action against the person who committed the violation for the greater of the following amounts:

- (1) Five thousand dollars ($5,000) per violation;
- (2) Three times the amount of actual damages, if any, sustained by the plaintiff.

- 194. Cal. Penal Code § 637.2(b) provides that [a]ny person may . . . bring an action to enjoin and restrain any violation of this chapter, and may in the same action seek damages as provided by subdivision (a)."
- 195. Additionally, Cal. Penal Code § 637.2(c) states that "[it] is not a necessary prerequisite to an action pursuant to this section that the plaintiff has suffered, or be threatened with, actual damages."
- 196. Therefore, Defendant is liable to Plaintiff and the Class members for, at a minimum, statutory damages of $5,000 per violation.
- 197. Plaintiff and Class members are also entitled to injunctive relief, as they have suffered irreparable injury from the unauthorized and unlawful acts discussed herein, as their PHI, which includes personal sexual and reproductive health information, and other sensitive PII revealing their identity has been unlawfully collected, viewed, accessed and stored and poses an ongoing risk and threat of injury.

COUNT II

Violation of the California Invasion of Privacy Act Cal. Penal Code § 632

(On Behalf of Plaintiff and the Class)

- 198. Plaintiff repeats the allegations contained in the paragraphs above as if fully set forth herein and brings this count individually and on behalf of the members of the Class.
 - 199. CIPA § 632(a) prohibits an entity from:

[I]ntentionally and without the consent of all parties to a confidential communication, use[] an electronic amplifying or recording device to eavesdrop upon or record the confidential communication, whether the communication is carried on among the parties in the presence of one another or by means of a telegraph, telephone, or other device, except a radio.

200. As used in the statute, "confidential communication" means "any communication carried on in circumstances as may reasonably indicate that any party to the communication desires it to be confined to the parties thereto . . .". Id.

201. Plaintiff's and Class members' communications to and with Planned Parenthood on its Website, which includes PHI, including information about sexual and reproductive healthcare symptoms, conditions and prescriptions, and other sensitive PII that reveals a person's identity were confidential communications for purposes of Cal. Penal Code § 632 because Plaintiff and Class members had an objectively reasonable expectation of privacy in this data.

- 202. The Tracking Codes are all electronic amplifying or recording devices for purposes of Cal. Penal Code § 632.
- 203. At all relevant times, Planned Parenthood intentionally used the Tracking Codes on its Website to record the confidential communications of Plaintiff and Class members in violation of Cal. Penal Code § 632.
- 204. Planned Parenthood intentionally procured the Tracking Codes from the Third Parties and embedded and installed them on its Website, and as a result, facilitated the interception and simultaneous transmission to the Third Parties and others of Plaintiff's and Class members' PHI and other sensitive PII while the information was "in transit" and in real time. The Third Parties use the information that Planned Parenthood unlawfully discloses to it in order to identify specific people and their communications on the Website and for their own benefit.
- 205. Plaintiff and Class members did not consent to any of Planned Parenthood's actions, nor has Plaintiff and Class members consented to Planned Parenthood's intentional use of an electronic amplifying or recording device to eavesdrop upon and record their confidential communications on the Website.
 - Cal. Penal Code § 637.2(a) provides: Any person who has been injured by a violation of this chapter [including Penal Code § 632] may bring an action against the person who committed the violation for the greater of the following amounts:
 - (1) Five thousand dollars ($5,000) per violation;
 - (2) Three times the amount of actual damages, if any, sustained by the plaintiff.

- 207. Cal. Penal Code § 637.2(b) provides that [a]ny person may . . . bring an action to enjoin and restrain any violation of this chapter, and may in the same action seek damages as provided by subdivision (a)."
- 208. Additionally, Cal. Penal Code § 637.2(c) states that "[it] is not a necessary prerequisite to an action pursuant to this section that the plaintiff has suffered, or be threatened with, actual damages."
- 209. Therefore, Planned Parenthood is liable to Plaintiff and the Class members for, at a minimum, statutory damages of $5,000 per violation.
- 210. Plaintiff and Class members are also entitled to injunctive relief, as they have suffered irreparable injury from the unauthorized acts discussed herein, as their PHI, which includes personal sexual and reproductive health information, and other sensitive PII has been collected, viewed, accessed, used and stored and poses an ongoing risk and threat of injury.

COUNT III

Violation of the California Confidentiality of Medical Information Act Cal. Civ. Code § 56, et seq.

(On Behalf of Plaintiff and the Class)

- 211. Plaintiff repeats the allegations contained in the foregoing paragraphs as if fully set forth herein and brings this claim individually and on behalf of the proposed Class.
- 212. Under the CMIA, a "provider of health care . . . shall not disclose medical information regarding a patient of the provider of health care . . . without first obtaining an authorization, except as provided in subdivision (b) or (c)." Cal. Civ. Code $\S 56.10(a)$.82

Subdivisions (b) and (c) are not relevant to this case but permit the disclosure of medical information in situations where a government investigation or lawsuit is taking place. For example, Defendant could bypass the authorization requirement if patient medical information was requested pursuant to a lawful court order or by a party to a proceeding before a court or administrative agency pursuant to a subpoena. See Cal. Civ. Code §§ 56.10(b)(3) and 56.10(b)(6).

- 213. Planned Parenthood is a provider of healthcare under Cal. Civ. Code §§ 56.05(o) and 56.06 (a)-(b) because Plaintiff Parenthood is a health facility licensed pursuant to Division 2 of the Health and Safety Code, maintains medical information and offers software to consumers that is designed to maintain medical information for the purposes of allowing its Website users to manage their information or make the information available to a healthcare provider, or for the diagnoses, treatment or management of a medical condition.
- 214. Plaintiff and Class members are patients within the meaning of Cal. Civ. Code § 56.05(l).
- 215. Cal. Civ. Code § 56.101(a) requires that every provider of healthcare "who creates, maintains, preserves, stores, abandons, destroys, or disposes of medical information shall do so in a manner that preserves the confidentiality of the information contained therein."
- 216. Any healthcare provider who "negligently creates, maintains, preserves, stores, abandons, destroys, or disposes of medical information shall be subject to remedies and penalties provided under subdivisions (b) and (c) of Section 56.36[.]" Cal. Civ. Code § 56.101(a).
- 217. At all relevant times, Planned Parenthood obtained medical information from its Website users through its Website.
- 218. Planned Parenthood is therefore subject to the requirements of the CMIA and obligated under Cal. Civ. Code § 56.06(e) to maintain the same standards of confidentiality required of a provider of healthcare with respect to medical information that it maintains on behalf of users
 - 219. The CMIA defines medical information as:

[A]ny individually identifiable information, in electronic or physical form, in possession of or derived from a provider of health care, health care service plan, pharmaceutical company, or contractor regarding a patient's medical history, mental or physical condition, or treatment. "Individually identifiable" means that the medical information includes or contains any element of personal identifying information sufficient to allow identification of the individual, such as the patient's name, address, ensure that medical information regarding Website users is not disclosed, electronic mail address, telephone number, or social security number, or other information that, alone or in combination with other publicly available information, reveals the identity of the individual.

Cal. Civ. Code § 56.05(i).

220. The information Planned Parenthood maintained and unlawfully disclosed to the Third Parties is individually identifiable because the medical information disclosed and intercepted includes or contains many "element[s] of personal identifying information sufficient to allow identification of the individual," including the Website user's name, address, FID address, electronic mail address, telephone number and other information that, alone or in combination with other publicly available information, reveals the identity of the individual.

221. Further, the individually identifiable information Planned Parenthood maintains in its possession and unlawfully discloses to the Third Parties is medical information because it is individually identifiable information, often in electronic form, relating to Website users' medical histories, which includes sensitive and personal Women's Services and Men's Services information, booking and appointment history, past and current mental and physical conditions, treatments they have researched, requested and received and prescriptions, including various forms of birth control, they have researched, requested and received. Planned Parenthood requires its Website users to convey their status throughout its platform.

The Tracking Codes made possible the linking of a Website user, their 222.medical information and their identity. The information exchanged, including the contents of Website searches, the act and substance of making appointments with doctors, information relating to Website users' past and current medical histories, which often includes sensitive and personal Women's Services and Men's Services information, past and current mental and physical conditions, treatments and prescriptions reveals information about Website users' "physical condition or history."

223. As a provider of healthcare, Planned Parenthood is required by CMIA to disseminated or released without their authorization and to protect and preserve the confidentiality of the medical information regarding a Website user under Cal. Civ. Code §§ 56.10, 56.13, 56.245, 56.26, 56.101 and 56.36.

- 224. "An authorization for the release of medical information . . . shall be valid if it:
 - i. Is handwritten by the person who signs it or is in a typeface no smaller than 14-point type;
 - ii. Is clearly separate from any other language present on the same page and is executed by a signature which serves no other purpose than to execute the authorization;
 - iii. Is signed and dated . . . ;
 - iv. States the specific uses and limitations on the types of medical information to be disclosed:
 - v. States the name or functions of the provider of health care, health care service plan, pharmaceutical company or contractor that may disclose the medical information;
 - vi. States the name or functions of the persons or entities authorized to receive the medical information;
 - vii. States the specific uses and limitations on the use of the medical information by the persons or entities authorized to receive the medical information;
 - viii. States a specific date after which the provider of health care, health care service plan, pharmaceutical company or contractor is no longer authorized to disclose the medical information; and
 - ix. Advises the person signing the authorization of the right to receive a copy of the authorization."

Cal. Civ. Code § 56.11.

- 225. As a provider of healthcare, Planned Parenthood is required by the CMIA to create, maintain, preserve and store medical records in a manner that preserves the confidentiality of the information contained therein under Cal. Civ. Code § 56.101.
- 226. At all relevant times, Planned Parenthood maintains medical information.
- 227. Plaintiff and Class members provided their medical information, which is often very personalized, to Planned Parenthood.

228. As a result of the Tracking Codes installed or embedded on its Website, Planned Parenthood has released, disclosed and/or negligently allowed the Third Parties to access and view Plaintiff's and Class members' medical information without their written authorization. After the disclosure of the medical information, the Third Parties improperly viewed or otherwise accessed this information. Not only did Planned Parenthood unlawfully disclose its Website users' medical information, but they disclosed their highly sensitive personal and private sexual and reproductive healthcare information.

- 229. The Third Parties, all whose primary business includes selling advertisements, analytics or other insights based on the data they obtain about individuals, used the data to improve their products, services and algorithms. Specifically, the Third Parties improperly viewed and used the Plaintiff's and Class members' medical information in connection with targeted marketing.
- 230. As a further result of Planned Parenthood's actions, the confidential nature of Plaintiff's and Class members' medical information was breached due to Planned Parenthood, as it failed to maintain, preserve and store medical information in a manner that preserves the confidentiality of the information contained therein because it disclosed to the Third Parties Plaintiff's and Class members' medical information.
- 231. Planned Parenthood's release and/or disclosure of medical information regarding Plaintiff and the Class members constitutes a violation of Cal. Civ. Code §§ 56.06, 56.10, 56.11, 56.13, 56.26, 56.36, 56.101 and 56.245.
- 232. By disclosing Plaintiff's and Class members' medical information without their written authorization, Planned Parenthood violated the CMIA and its legal duty to protect the confidentiality of such information.
- 233. Planned Parenthood knowingly and willfully disclosed Plaintiff's and Class members' medical information without consent to the Third Parties for financial gain, including to sell more products, advertise, obtain analytics and improve its 27 28 Website, all in violation of the CMIA. Planned Parenthood's conduct was knowing and willful as it was aware that the Third Parties would obtain all of its Website users' actions and data input while using its Website, yet they still intentionally embedded the Third Parties' code on its Website anyways.

- 234. At the very least, Planned Parenthood negligently disclosed medical information to the Third Parties in violation of the CMIA. A healthcare provider that maintains information for purposes covered by the CMIA is liable for negligent disclosures that arise as the result of an affirmative act, such as implementing a system that records and discloses online Website users' sensitive and protected sexual and reproductive health information and personally identifiable information.
- 235. As a direct and proximate result of Planned Parenthood's wrongful actions, inaction, omissions and want of ordinary care that directly and proximately caused its violations of the CMIA, Plaintiff and Class members are entitled to and hereby seek:
 - i. Nominal damages of $1,000 for each violation under Cal. Civ. Code § 56.36(b)(1);
 - Actual damages, in an amount to be determined at trial, for each ii. violation under Cal. Civ. Code § 56.36(b)(2);
 - Punitive damages not to exceed $3,000 for each violation under iii. Cal. Civ. Code § 56.35; and
 - Reasonable attorneys' fees and other litigation costs and iv. expenses incurred under Cal. Civ. Code § 56.35.
